

Practical Grace: Volunteering in a Cancer Ward

While in mourning over the death of his mother, Mike was counseled by a preacher that the world had plenty of professionals, plenty of doctors and lawyers, and certainly the world had plenty of workers, but what was really needed were people who could comfort the afflicted. There is a scarcity of comforters, which may be the noblest calling of them all. He went to work at the cancer wards, but found that comforting wasn't really that easy. As opportunities presented themselves, he found that he didn't know what to say, so he said nothing or said the wrong thing, compounding the trauma of the patients. Practical Grace is an attempt to illustrate how to help ease the heartache of the afflicted, and it will show people how to see the real person behind the suffering eyes.
